WARNING: By signing this form you are giving up your legal rights to take legal action against the Canadian High Schools Model United Nations.

The Canadian High School Model United Nations (“CAHSMUN”) team organizes annual Model UN conferences for the benefit of high school students in the Lower Mainland and beyond. It is both an enjoyable and educational experience that takes the students out of the classroom and allows them to assume the roles leaders of the world solving issues that affect the peoples of the world.

Conference Policies

In order for participants and staff members to enjoy themselves at the conference, CAHSMUN has instituted the following policies:

Delegates are expected to attend all committee sessions and remain in character during the conference.

CAHSMUN requires all delegates to dress in business attire.

Men - a suit and tie, and the suit jacket must be worn to be recognized.

Women - a skirt or dress pants, and no sleeveless tops.

All individuals at CAHSMUN are required to wear conference-issued nametags. Nametags and committee placards are replaceable at a cost.

All actions, objects, materials and substances that are deemed as illegal or illegal in the presence of minors by federal, provincial, municipal or school authorities are strictly prohibited at CAHSMUN.

Vandals assume all responsibility of structural damages done to the conference venue.

An individual who, intentionally or unintentionally, causes bodily harm to others at the conference will be dealt with as federal, provincial, and municipal laws prescribe.

All individuals at CAHSMUN shall respect each other while in and out of their respective roles. CAHSMUN does not tolerate discrimination based on race, color, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age or handicapping condition.

CAHSMUN will impose a strict curfew for all delegates. Delegates must return to their own rooms by midnight of each day at the conference, and respect the hotel quiet time starting at 11PM. There will be no co-ed rooming.

If a delegate is suspected of violating any of the Conference Policies, the faculty advisor will be consulted as part of the decision.

If a CAHSMUN staff member is suspected of violating any of the Conference Policies, the attending members of the Board of Directors shall determine the consequences.

All violations of the Conference Policies are resolved on a case-by-case basis. CAHSMUN reserves the right to suspend the individual for a specific duration from his or her role at the conference, and expulsion of the individual will occur if appropriate.

CAHSMUN reserves the right to include any of the federal, provincial or municipal authorities as part of the enforcement of Conference Policies.
